COVID-19 AND MARITIME LABOUR
ISSUES: IMPACT AND RESPONSES

5 JUNE 2020

please join us for the webinar COVID-19 AND MARITIME LABOUR ISSUES: IMPACT AND RESPONSES co-organized by the International Labour Organization and the International Training Centre of the ILO, in collaboration with the International Maritime Organization (IMO) and the World Health Organization (WHO).

From the beginning of COVID-19 crisis the International Chamber of Shipping, the International Transport Workers' Federation (ITF) and numerous government' representatives joined forces with the IMO, the WHO and the ILO to identify and promote the most appropriate responses to protect seafarers and allow the shipping industry to continue playing its crucial role. While several important measures have been taken, many more are needed on an urgent basis to ensure adequate protection of the health and safety of seafarers.

This webinar will highlight the concerns affecting the employment of seafarers during the COVID-19 pandemic, in particular in light of the provisions of the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, as amended (MLC, 2006). From their different perspectives, panellists will refer to relevant international regulations and national practices and highlight concerns on key issues such as crew changes and repatriation of seafarers, seafarers' access to medical care, seafarers' safety and health, certificates required by the MLC, 2006, and seafarers' welfare.
